

One night last week I had a telephone call from Texarkana. The man introduced himself as an engineer for a big utility concern in the East. He said:

"I drove through your town earlier tonight. I'm not mad about what I am going to report to you. I just want to introduce myself as a trained technical observer traveling to the coast, and to tell you as the Hope editor that your town has the worst street paving on the trunk highway anywhere between Texas and New York."

Well, we had a lengthy and friendly conversation. I explained to him that Hope recognized the town, and that actually Third street (civil route of U.S. 67) is right now in a state of unfinished construction. The street has been widened and new curbing installed but the new surfacing has not been laid. Also, Second street has been smashed by traffic detoured over it by the state during construction.

He found my story interesting, but unimpressive. I suppose we have been fooling around with this business a long time. Third street is a tough prospect for everybody—whether you live in Hope or just happen through here as a tourist.

And out in the former Southwestern Proving Ground industrial area, just acquired by the local public from the federal government, we have an equally severe problem of road maintenance.

These are problems we ought to do something about. My information is that the surfacing of Third street is in the hands of the State Highway Department. And further information tells me that the state's trucks and official detouring of State No. 4 highway traffic through the SPG helped tear up the paved road out there that needs patching.

I think ought to go right to bat on both these problems.

I think the chamber of commerce and other organizations here ought to form a delegation and send it out to District Three highway office with a petition for prompt action.

Will Be Wiser Contribution

By JAMES THRASHER

A lot of people find certain kinds of publicity and advertising annoying. They may not like the numerous invitations from radio announcers to write a 25-word letter beginning "I like you and so because..." They may tire of movie stars endorsing this, that and the other. They may and do find fault with other attention-getters.

But the fact remains that publicity and advertising are potent and far-reaching educational forces. Their application may only be the rudimentary matter of acquainting people with the fact that there is a product of a certain name and price that can be bought at a certain place. But at least the educational facilities are there, and their use is not limited to commerce.

Two examples of this wider use were the recent fund-raising drive of the American Heart Association and the similar campaign of the American Cancer Society. Many thought that the "Walking Man" race contest was pretty silly. But there was nothing silly about the million and a half dollars the contest's sponsor turned over to the heart association.

The cancer group has no "Walking Man." But this year it seems to be using broader and more varied publicity tactics than ever before. This is all to the good. For not only will the campaign reach more people and raise more money, but it will also bring more information to more people. And money and education are the most hopeful weapons in the fight against cancer, as they are against heart disease.

The story and statistics on cancer are not pleasant reading. But ignorance of the disease and its symptoms are more frightening and dangerous than all the disturbing literature on the subject. Early diagnosis and treatment is usually impossible unless the patient is well enough informed to know a danger signal when he sees or feels it. And early diagnosis and treatment are all that can be done until a preventive or positive cure for cancer is found.

It will be a miracle if millions more dollars are not needed and used for research before a preventive or cure is discovered. Perhaps the key to victory over cancer lies in the largely unexplored field of atomic energy. The more money there is for exploration, the shorter the search is likely to be.

Meanwhile money is needed for the treatment and comfort of those who now suffer from this disease and those who will contract it while the search goes on. There are an estimated 930,000 persons in this country who have cancer, yet there are only 1334 special cancer beds available to them in all our hospitals.

The goal of this year's American Cancer Society drive is $12,000,000. The immediate goal of accomplishment is to cut down the steadily rising death rate from the disease which today kills one American every 20 years.

Tornadoes Take 21 Lives, Leave 160 Injured

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes and violent windstorms whipped across seven states over the weekend killing at least 21 persons and injuring more than 160.

Properly damage was estimated in the millions.

West Virginia and Kentucky communities were lashed by tornadoes last night. Twisters hit in Missouri, Oklahoma and Kansas Saturday. High winds and heavy rains occurred in Indiana and Illinois.

The death toll by states:

West Virginia — six; Kentucky — four; Oklahoma — three; Missouri — three; Kansas — two; Illinois — one.

In West Virginia, tornado winds ripped through six rural communities near Clarksburg in the northern part of the state. State police reported more than 65 persons were injured.

West Milford, Lost Creek, Wolf Summit, Mount Clare and Quiet Dell were the communities hardest hit. Highways were blocked and communication lines were down, hampering rescue operations.

In Kentucky a tornado hit Alpha, a town of 140 in Clinton county. The storm wrecked the Davis Chapel church where an estimated 125 were attending services. At least 50 persons were reported injured in the county. Many of the injured were in the church.

Deputy Policeman Wiley Gregory, who was in the church, reported that a few houses were destroyed. Alpha is midway between Albany and Monticello, near the Kentucky-Tennessee border.

Rescue workers sought additional victims in the debris and mud of the tornado-battered West Virginia communities. Wrecked automobiles, trees and debris from nearby strip-mining operations littered U. S. Route 19 leading to the damaged town of Hupp-Hill, W. Va.

Conviction is Upheld by High Court

Little Rock, May 3 (AP)—Convictions of two brothers in Washington circuit court on second degree murder charges were upheld by the Arkansas Supreme court today.

The two are Vernon and Vernon Bowman, each sentenced to 12 years imprisonment in connection with the fatal shooting of Clay D. Sampson, June 9, 1947.

The Bowmans were tenants on the Sams farm near Goshen, Ark., reviewing the testimony, the high court said that the feeling rose between the brothers and Sampson and his wife.

Sampson was working in a field when the Bowman's fired on him. Sampson was fatally wounded and Mrs. Sampson, who attempted to take a shotgun to her husband, was shot and wounded seriously, but recovered.

The convicted men presented 32 assignments of alleged error in the trial. The Supreme Court held all were without merit.

The high court in a 5-2 decision agreed with Pulaski Circuit court in its voiding of legal services against Emanuel Greenstein of Chicago in an automobile damage suit growing out of an automobile fatality in 1946.

The suit was brought by W. D. Kerr, as administrator of the estate of Elodia E. Kerr, who allegedly died as a result of the injuries suffered when her automobile collided with one driven by Greenstein.

Service on Greenstein was obtained through the secretary of State under the Arkansas "non-resident motorist service statute." Greenstein, who was driving an automobile belonging to a Little Rock family, alleged the service applies only to "non-resident owners," and not "non-resident operators."

The lower court adopted this view and quashed the service, and on appeal the supreme court concurred and affirmed the decision.

The high court affirmed a Washington chancery decree holding George Appleby and Heber A. Lewis, co-owners of a disrupted 2-1/2 foot wide strip of Fayetteville real estate.

The Phillips Motor Company, owner of adjoining property, and others had appealed from the lower court decision.

A Clark Circuit court judgment for $970.50 in favor of Conway Coon against Arthur H. Krebs was affirmed.

Coon appealed in lower court to collect a balance allegedly due on a contract to stack lumber. Krebs appealed from the judgment Coon obtained.

A three-year sentence imposed in Pulaski Circuit Court against Nick Cascio for possession of burglary tools was affirmed.

Twelfth and Main streets, Little Rock, and the tools were found in his nearby automobile, the court said.

This is a model of the $85,000,000 liner which the United States Lines say they will build to bolster the American merchant fleet. The ship would be 48,000 gross tons, and run between 900 and 1000 feet in length. Unnamed as yet, it would be assigned to European service.

Reds Display B-29 Type of Plane

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, May 3 (AP)—The big four-engine planes that Russia put on display over the weekend may provide a new insight into the Red Air Force.

Military experts here await the arrival of more detailed reports from United States diplomatic observers at the May Day parade before analyzing what the Red Air Force has to show.

It is likely that at least some of the big planes were the Soviet TU-70, an aircraft bearing close resemblance to the American B-29.

The assumption has been that the Russians copied many of the features of a B-29 known to have been forced down in Soviet controlled areas during the war.

Photographs of the TU-70 indicate it may be a hybrid transport-cargo plane, a hybrid bomber-bomber. Although its elongated fuselage appears to be a conventional transport design, the plane carries a plexiglass nose used by bombers for sighting.

The installation of bomb bay doors (if they are not indeed built into the transport version) and of bomb bays would be an easy matter of conversion. Requiring more time would be the addition of defensive guns to the transport.

The TU-70 is reported to have a passenger capacity of 75. It is to be presumed, however, that that figure was increased substantially if the plane were used strictly as a troop carrier.

Its performance compares with that of wartime B-29s the TU-70 could carry troops an land as far as 3,000 miles distance from its home base. The range would be about half of that distance if the plane were to drop paratroopers and return to base.

This would mean that with TU-70s, Alaska would be within easy reach for an attack by commando-type Russian forces intent upon seizing airfields there.

Russia is known to be giving considerable attention to airborne armies. Estimates of the size of the airborne force range up to 200,000.

Six Violent Deaths in Arkansas

By United Press

A variety of tragedies snuffed out the lives of at least six persons in Arkansas over the weekend.

Walter W. Aley, a 38-year-old Little Rock railroadman, was killed Sunday morning when he fell under a Rock Island freight train in the yards at Hot Springs.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, one son, two sisters and one brother. Aley had been a brakeman for Rock Island lines for six years.

Roy Lee Thomas, a 24-year-old Tuckerman World War Two bomber, died of burns when his clothing became ignited as he poured fuel oil into a tractor near Tuckerman. He received emergency treatment at a Newport hospital and died en route to Memphis hospital. He was working on the C.W. Skyrms farm.

Two Year Draft Law Bill Sent to Congress

Washington, May 3 (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee today approved 28 to 5 a two-year draft bill.

The vote puts the issue for Selective Service formally before Congress for the first time since the war. The measure calls for the nation's first peacetime draft.

Before voting, the committee heard Secretary of Defense Forrestal call the measure "excellent."

"There is an immediate and imperative demand for something to augment the size of our armed forces," he said. "This bill provides it."

Chairman Andrews (R-NY), called Forrester and Secretary of the Army Royal in for a final look at the measure before a formal committee vote. Royal said it is "thoroughly acceptable to all the services"—army, navy and air force.

They did not ask that the committee put in any provision for limited training of 18-year-olds, but Forrester emphasized that he still believes universal military training is needed.

Andrews has been assured by House leaders that the bill will be called up for debate next week.

Investigates Arms Bound for Palestine

By JAMES F. DONOVAN

Washington, May 3 (UP)—The FBI has started a full-scale investigation of the Palestine-bound arms cache recently unearthed in New York building loft, it was disclosed today.

New York police uncovered the cache among food packages destined for Palestine more than 100 rifles, 300 revolvers, hand grenades, bayonets and thousands of pounds of ammunition.

Joseph Untermyer, 19-year-old son of publisher Louis Untermyer and Leah Warshaw, 30, a watch-maker's apprentice, were arrested and charged with violating the state Sullivan law, which forbids the possession of concealed weapons.

FBI agents were promptly called into the case. It was first reported they were merely acting as observers, and then that they were conducting a preliminary inquiry into the matter.

It was learned that FBI officials are now convinced the issue involves many federal statutes—chiefly the neutrality act—and that a full-scale inquiry has been ordered.

Young Untermyer and Warshaw said the owner of the New York building had given them permission to store food and clothing there but that they knew nothing about the hidden arms.

The FBI remained officially silent, but it was understood that it would like to know who obtained the arms and hid them in the loft and if there are similar caches elsewhere.

The neutrality act forbids the exportation of specified articles of war without permission of the War Department. The United States at present has a strict embargo on arms for Palestine.

Government lawyers said that besides the neutrality act, other general export statutes might be involved. They said it was impossible to estimate what charges would be brought against the persons responsible for the New York cache until the FBI's inquiry is completed.

British Plan for Palestine Unchanged

London, May 3 (AP)—The British Foreign Office said today the government is not increasing its armed forces in Palestine and does not mean any change in its plan to surrender the Holy Land mandate 12 days hence.

A spokesman told a news conference that the only reason behind increasing British strength in Palestine was to carry out law and order there until the mandate ends.

He said that after May 15 British troops would be used only for their own protection until their final withdrawal, set for Aug. 1.

Bishop Visions Union of Churches

Boston, May 3 (AP)—The beginning of what history may record as a new reformation leading toward the reunion of Christian churches was foreseen by a Methodist bishop today.

Bishop Evan Lee Holt of St. Louis said, "while in my thinking, union of protestant churches is inevitable and demanded by the urgencies of the hour, I am even more intrigued by the new religious spirit to be discovered everywhere."

While Bishop Holt addressed a Sunday service at the Old South (Congregational) church, the Right Rev. Henry Knox Sherill, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America, expressed hope for eventual union of his denomination with the Methodist church.

A Methodist bishop, Dr. Lewis O. Hartman, introduced Bishop Sherill to the Methodist quadrennial conference and said, "it is not too much to hope that in the predictable future the two churches may be one."

Responding, Bishop Sherill said, "sometime in the providence of God, these churches may be one." With the opening of the conference here, Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxman had forecast an eventual union of protestant churches throughout the world. Such a union, he said, would work to join with the Eastern Orthodox church.

With only two great churches remaining, he said, settlement of the differences between a protestant-orthodox church and the Roman Catholic church could lead to the re-establishment of a single Christian church.

There is more statesmanship in the three great divisions of Christendom than we have had in hundreds of years," Bishop Holt said. "The Roman Catholic church, facing very difficult problems, is developing a great strategy. In the Orthodox sector there is an earnest attempt to bring the national churches into a stronger fellowship. In Protestantism all over the world there are definite plans for large church unions. There is interest in Protestant union in Australia, Great Britain, New Zealand and the United States."

So far the American churches are concerned, there is a zeal among most protestant groups for the creation of a new church. Referring to the "new religious spirit x x x everywhere," Bishop Holt said, "The tactics of two world wars, the grip of the demoniac

Four persons were injured during high winds and heavy rains in east-central Indiana. Twelve homes were destroyed and many farm buildings were damaged. Ridgeville in Randolph county was hardest hit.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Chicago, May 3 (AP)—Grains were a little lower most of the session on the board of trade today. Rain in the southwestern winter wheat belt, particularly Kansas, was the major cause of the slight easing tendency.

Offsetting moisture as a market influence was the still present prospect of a railroad strike next week and re-entry of the government into the flour market. The May wheat contract was supported by these factors.

Wheat closed 1-2 lower to 1-2 higher, May $2.42 3-4—$2.43, corn was 5-8 lower to 3-4 higher, May $2.19 3-4—$2.20, oats were 3-4 lower to 3-8 higher, May $1.08 7-8, and soybeans were 1 cent higher, May $3.97.

Butter performers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Studebaker, Goodyear, Schenley, Kennecott, American Can, J. C. Penney, American Woolen, Texas Co., Mission Corp., Southern Pacific, N. Y. Central and Union Pacific.

'Santa Claus' of Memphis Dies From Beating

Memphis, Tenn., May 3 (AP)—"Santa Claus," as Henry M. Stephens was affectionately known, was buried here today.

Stephens never regained complete consciousness after being attacked by two men who came to his little shack on the outskirts of Memphis Friday. He died in a hospital yesterday.

Stephens, who got his "Santa Claus" nickname because of the long white beard of which he was so proud, was quoted by ambulance drivers as saying the men asked they beat him up and set fire to his house.

The 71 year-old recluse died of two skull fractures, Sheriff Oliver Parry said.

Suit Would Halt Salary Payment to Spa Police Chief

Hot Springs, May 3 (AP)—A chambers court suit was filed today to enjoin the city of Hot Springs from paying George Culahan any salary as chief of police.

The suit filed by State Senator Ernest Calver, was another in a series of litigations resulting from Culahan's appointment last winter as commissioner of public safety.

The suit filed by State Senator Calver was improperly named chief and was not eligible to draw city funds for duties as chief.

It was filed in the name of taxpayers Bert Corners and James Shannon who have initiated all other litigation involving the police chief's job.

Corners and Shannon have been acting for the Arkansas Municipal Police Association which has been opposing Culahan's appointment with the contention the state civil service law was not observed.

No date was set for the injunction hearing pending return to the city of Chancellor Sam Garratt.

The mayor, city clerk and Municipal Civil Service Commission were named respondents to the latest suit.

The commission named Culahan to the job last week with an announcement that civil service examinations of members of the city police force did not produce a qualified man for the job.

Eisenhower Takes Over at Columbia

New York, May 3 (UP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower began a course at Columbia University today in how to become a civilian.

The former army chief of staff and his wife took up residence in the university president's home on Morningside Heights after bidding farewell to the army yesterday at Fort Meyer, Va.

He said he would take it easy for the next several weeks, working on his memoirs and preparing to assume the presidency of Columbia on June 7.

A crowd of several hundred of his new neighbors greeted the general on his arrival. Among them was David Syrett, 9-year-old son of a Columbia assistant professor, who shook hands with Eisenhower while holding a toy machinegun in his left hand.

"Son," Gen. Eisenhower grinned, "wait until you see yourself in the movies."

He referred to cameramen jostling each other to obtain pictures of the event.

The general also shook hands with a soldier he saw in the crowd and to whom he shouted, "I see you're from the 71st. My son was in that outfit."

The soldier was Pvt. Paul Ritter, a patient at Valley Forge, Pa., general hospital, who was in New York on a weekend pass.

Eisenhower refused to discuss trip from Virginia which he said was a "private matter." The seven-hour trip from Virginia which he said was "very nice."

Capt. John D. Eisenhower, the general's son, and his wife and month-old baby, Dwight D. Eisenhower, II, are also living temporarily at the Morningside Drive mansion while young Eisenhower attends a refresher course at the university preparatory to returning to West Point as an instructor.

Besides an undisclosed number of servants, the general will have a personal military staff composed of Maj. Robert L. Schulz, aide-de-camp; Warrant Officer Margaret Hayes, his private secretary; Sgt. Leonard Dary, chauffeur; and Sgt. John Mooney, orderly.

A retired chief of staff is entitled to a military staff for life. As a five-star general he will draw pay for that rank for life, even though on inactive duty.

Woman Has Driven an Automobile Since 1897
South Pasadena, Calif., May 3 (AP)—Mrs. Jessica P. Melville says she guesses she can claim the record for driving an automobile longer than any other woman.

"If any woman has been driving since 1897, I bow," says the 68-year-old former antique dealer.

"But I drove my father's 1898, an early Ford Model T. He was an inventor of farm machinery and factory equipment. People used to flee the streets when they saw me driving."

Mrs. Melville is driving a 21-year-old Essex but she plans to go East and get a new car.

Look who gets squeezed!

Union leaders representing less than one-tenth of railroad employees reject recommendations of President's Emergency board—refuse to negotiate except on their own terms—threaten to paralyze nation by strike!

THE LEADERS of three railroad unions, representing less than one-tenth of all railroad employees, have called a railroad strike that would paralyze the nation.

These leaders refuse to accept a 15 1/2 cents an hour wage increase retroactive to November 1, 1947. This increase was recommended by an impartial Emergency Board appointed by President Truman.

This increase of 15 1/2 cents already has been accepted by the 19 other railroad unions. But the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, and the Switchmen's Union of North America won't accept what more than 90% of all railroad employees have accepted. They have called a strike to get more!

Unions refuse rules discussion
Certain rules changes demanded by these union leaders—which would increase wages still further—were recommended by the Board. But the union leaders want more—they demand that the railroads put into effect ALL the changes they asked for, including those the Board felt should be denied.

Greater wage increase not justified
Engineers and firemen are among the highest paid of all employees in America, as figures in the box show. This strike threat doesn't justify giving a greater increase than other railroad workers received.

Emergency Boards are a means provided by the Railway Labor Act in the public interest to avoid strikes. The President's Board, after hearing evidence for 33 days, made recommendations based on all the facts in

Fashion Shapes Trim Ankles

WANT your legs to look slimmer?
Make the most of three slenderizing aids which "new look" fashions offer: closed, high-heeled shoes, dark hosiery shades and longer, fuller skirts.

Best type of "new look" skirt to use to slenderize legs rides high at the waist, bells out from the hips and covers the calf. The model, right, is wearing such a skirt.

New dark stocking shades that best minimize leg size have heel reinforcements in a darker tone. Notice how much slimmer the model's leg looks, in the inset below, clad in a dark stocking with black heel reinforcement than her right leg does dressed in lighter-colored hosiery without this slenderizing detail.

Notice also how much more leg-slendering is the closed, high-heeled shoe which she wears on her left foot than the cut-out lower-heeled shoe which she wears on her right foot. The closed shoe is more flattering to a leg because by making the foot look more substantial it makes the ankle by contrast look more fragile.

Court Probes Ownership of Theaters

Washington, May 3 — (AP) The supreme court reopened today the question of whether major motion picture companies should be required to dispose of their hundreds of movie theaters.

A 7-1 decision sent back for new proceedings in district court the government's anti-trust case against the five top producers and a long list of other producers and distributors.

The court's ruling cancelled findings by the district court that the big concerns did not show a "purpose" of monopoly.

The majority consistently referred to joint agreements among the exhibitors.

The club members have turned in about twenty pairs of pajamas. Mrs. O. D. Hodnut, Mrs. Grady Reece and Mrs. England received birthday gifts this month.

Mrs. Robert Ottwell made the gift for the package sale, which brought $1.70 and was won by Mrs. Reece.

Refreshments were served and enjoyed by all. The meeting then adjourned to meet at the home of Mrs. Harold Sanford on Tuesday, May 25.

Inter-American Conference Didn't Fulfill Every Hope But Was Successful

By DeWITT MacKENIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Inter-American Conference of states, hasn't fulfilled all the hopes which had been built up in advance (what international parties ever does?) but it nevertheless has achieved one far-reaching success. The 21 nations have the satisfaction of knowing that they have contributed greatly to hemispheric political solidarity. And a vital part of this contribution is the expressed determination to prevent infringement of aggressive communism on the western world.

Time may prove that this was the most important contribution the conference could have made to our generation, coming as it does at a critical juncture in the fight to a finish between Bolshevism and free nations. This battle of the issue is by far the greatest global issue of the day.

It was a whimsical fate which decreed that the conference should be disrupted by the bloody revolution which the Colombian government attributed to Communist influence. The principal item on the agenda had been hemispheric economic cooperation, but the revolt resulted in this being postponed until a later meeting in Buenos Aires, and the Bogota conference concentrated mainly on political solidarity and war against aggressive communism. The Colombian Reds couldn't have done their cause a greater disservice.

This exhibition of inter-American solidarity, especially against the Bolshevik onslaught, comes at an opportune moment to bolster the courage of the western European nations which also have been maneuvering — some of them with extreme caution — for unity against the Red menace. Of course, the European democracies as a whole are waiting for the rainbow of assured American military backing before they go all-out in defiance of Bolshevism, but determination is growing apace.

We have striking evidence of this in yesterday's developments from western Europe. Great Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg announced that they had set up a permanent military organization to defend their recently concluded alliance against attack. This action was coincident with reports in diplomatic circles in the United States and the five nations in the alliance have agreed tentatively on the establishment of a western German government this year. The new nation's economy presumably will be coordinated with that of the rest of western Europe.

TEST VOTE THIS WEEK

Washington, May 3 — (AP) — A test vote in the Senate this week will tip off the probable fate of the bill to wipe out federal taxes on oleomargarine.

Senators will be asked to decide whether the House-Approved repeal measure should go to the Agriculture or the Tax-writing finance committee.

Those favoring repeal of the 62-year old oleo taxes want the measure to go to the finance committee, where they think they have more friends and can get quicker action.

Those fighting to preserve the advantage which the taxes give to butter producers want it to go to the agriculture committee.

DOROTHY DIX Grandma's Tyranny

Dear Miss Dix: I am a woman 26 years old. Have been married five years and we are expecting our first baby soon, over which, of course, there is great rejoicing. But here's the fly in the ointment: My mother, a widow 50 years old and financially well off, has the habit of running in to see how I am every day, and she has announced that she is going to take care of the baby for me when it comes and until it is ready to go to school. She intends staying in my house all day and just going to her home, which is two blocks away, at night.

She says that young people are careless and do not know how to manage, and that since she reared two children she is better fitted to take care of a baby than I am. But my husband says NO; that we are as intelligent as the average person, and he thinks it is our duty and our privilege to bring up our children as we see fit, and that when we need Mother's help we can ask for it.

What is your unbiased opinion of the situation?

The Doctor Says:

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Trichinosis is a disease caused by a tiny animal parasite which is called trichinella spiralis. This disease is much more important than has been generally realized.

Surveys in various localities through out the U.S. indicate that from about one in three to one in five has been infected.

Human beings catch trichinosis in most cases from eating pork which has not been cooked well enough to destroy the parasites.

During 1944 nearly 100,000,000 hogs were slaughtered in this country of which number approximately 1.5 per cent are believed to have been infected with trichinae. It is calculated that the average person has 200 servings of pork each year and out of that number three contain trichinae!

Disease Symptoms

When live trichinae are swallowed they pass through the wall of the intestines and are carried to the muscles throughout the body. During the first week following the swallowing of infected meat, the worms develop in the intestines. There they may produce nausea and vomiting and watery diarrhea. Sometimes abdominal pain is present.

About the ninth or tenth day the trichinae begin to invade the muscles. Here if there are enough of them, they produce muscular tenderness, especially in the arms and legs. Sometimes a reddish rash on the skin develops during this stage. There is often fever. Puffiness and swelling of the face, especially around the eyes, is common. In severe cases the patient becomes anemic and loses weight.

At present the best safeguard against trichinae is to cook all pork products thoroughly.

QUESTION: At times I have a blurriness which seems to affect my vision. What would cause this?
ANSWER: There are so many causes for blurred vision that it is impossible to list them. Have an eye examination immediately.

A snake's poison is never carried in its tongue, often erroneously called its "stinger."

to a crisis in your life, and that unless you have enough backbone to make your mother realize, once and for all, that this is going to be your baby and not hers, and that you are going to rear it according to your theories about how to bring up a child, that your whole marriage will go on the rocks. For your husband certainly is not going to be just a stooge in his own house who plays second fiddle to mother-in-law, yet I have seen that happen often enough.

Kills Paternal Instinct
I have seen plenty of grandmothers take possession of the new baby and refuse to let the proud young father even touch it, and if there is any way to kill the paternal instinct in a man, that turns the trick. Many a man, who would make such a fine and devoted father, never even gets acquainted with his children. Grandma has taken his job away from him.

Grandmothers are not intentional trouble-makers in their children's families. It is just that they are so sure that they know best about everything on earth, and that they never realize that their sons and daughters grow up and have enough intelligence to manage their own affairs. To save their lives they can't keep their fingers out of their children's pies, and especially they can't keep their hands off of a baby.

And that is why parents should never go live with their children if it can possibly be avoided, and why young fathers and mothers should rear their own children, without Grandma superintending the job.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a girl of 15. I am very popular and I never even stay at home at night, for I have so many dates. But I am not happy. My mother worries me all the time because I cry so much.

For two years I have liked a boy very much, but I am forbidden to go with him because of the difference in our ages. I know positively that what I feel is a passing fancy. It is real love, and he has told me that he feels the same way about me.

Please help me.

DISCONTENTED

Answer: The reason that you are unhappy and discontented is because you are forcing your age, and it has made you a little nervous wreck. No girl of 15 should be allowed to go out every night to places of amusement, and dance and drink and have love affairs with boys. She is not morally, physically, or mentally fitted for the strain, and so it is no wonder that you are a cry-baby and that your mother is worried about you. The pity of it is that she didn't begin worrying about you when you were five years old instead of fifteen. If she had kept you the child that you were, instead of becoming the little gadabout she is, you would be a happy and healthy playing around with other girls of your age and interested in your studies, instead of being a pitiful little neurotic who is old before her time.
